If you're not a very popular account and interested in being bombarded by a flood of messages from a bunch of complete strangers, you can change that setting. Access your user settings from your profile and select Story Settings in the Account section. Here, you can set up your message responses to only respond to the followers you follow. Alternatively, you can turn them off completely. hocusfocus/Stock/GettyimagesPlus If your Instagram account is public, anyone can see your stories if they move to your profile and tap on your photo.
